

Mission Dominican Republic

Praying for people

Ron Kenoly

What began as a simple street witnessing mission to Dominican Republic grew to a major crusade that shook Santiago and the nation for the kingdom.

Over 15,000 were in for the first night of the Crusade— thousands came forward for prayer and salvation. The pictures tell it all. We had to remove the chairs on the field as people made their way forward.

The crowds that came forward completely enveloped the people on the field, who had to move back to the stands... It was a powerful time.

The stadium, which holds 25,000 was packed every other night. We had 80 buses came in from around the country— and Haiti,. There were people literally hanging out of the windows from the buses coming from Haiti. The crusade has opened the door to launch a new Teen Challenge Center in Santiago.
